Imagine if all churches could be strengthened across Canada, ours included. Our congregation has partnered with the Flourishing Congregations Institute to be part of this transformation, and we would like your help! Please take 20 minutes to fill out an anonymous national online survey at www.oursavioursurvey.ca. Paper copies of the survey are also available in the Fellowship Hall. We hope for 50% or more of our adult attenders to fill out the 20 minute survey. At time of printing, 36 completed surveys have been submitted. Our goal is over 85 surveys. With strong survey involvement, we will learn the unique attributes and possibilities for our congregation.

From Pastor Julianne

As the congregation continues to move toward understanding and articulating our identity and mission it is helpful to consider the influences of the church's history on the way we see our place in the world.

LCOS was built on the wave of "Lutheran" immigration from Europe which ended in the 1960's. The good old days were characterized by large Sunday School and Affirmation of Baptism classes as immigrant families had children. Once the stream of European immigrants declined and second and third generation young adults and their families no longer attended Sunday worship regularly, the attendance went down.

Christian congregations in North America, reacting to the uncertainty and fear of reduced Sunday worship attendance tried attractional fixes from the 1970's to present (young pastor, youth programs, contemporary music, relevant sermons) with no success.

What if we don't need to figure out a better way to do what we have always done, but instead we need to figure out a new way to be the people God is calling us to be?

Perhaps our task is to understand God's work in the world as Spirit-led and as an invitation to join in God's mission of redemption, restoration and reconciliation.

The way we have always done church	Growing into a new way of being church
Church is assumed to be an important part of people's lives and the world. Therefore, we expect people to want to be part of a congregation.	Church is a community gathered by the Spirit and is blessed to be a blessing. Church is less a noun and more a verb; less a place and more a way of life.
The congregation is an organization focussed on serving its members. Membership is how one belongs to the congregation and how it belongs to you.	The congregation is a mission outpost and is therefore focused on reciprocal relationships in the neighbourhood, city and world.

For surely, I know the plans I have for you, says the LORD, plans for your welfare and not for harm, to give you a future with hope. Then when you call upon me and come and pray to me, I will hear you. When you search for me, you will find me; if you seek me with all your heart, I will let you find me, says the LORD.

Jeremiah 29:11-14 NRSV

Let us pray regularly for insight into God's plans and for increasing hope as we move into an unknown future.

Let us seek wisdom, strength and courage as insight and transformation grows.

Let us trust in God's provision as we anticipate the new pastor God has already chosen for us.

Amen.

I had a wonderful conversation out of the blue during the first week of February that gave me a new word for the theme of 2019 for myself so far; development. We were actually talking about tasks, and how we are task-driven people. But at times, when we are focussed on merely completing things, we lose sight of the reason or purpose for the completion of those items. Especially within the church, but I would argue everywhere in life, the reason for getting things done is development.

Jesus called us to become more and more like Him in our lives, in the way that we approach our relationship with God, in the way that we pray, in the way we see the world around us, and in the way that we actually act! But, this doesn't just happen overnight. It's something, that each day, we have to work towards. It's something that we develop by ourselves, and with others, which is also the entire point of the church. Development is the entire purpose of small groups, of Sunday mornings, of youth ministry, and of children's ministry.

Benchmarks and goals are great (and I absolutely need them), but to complete a step to simply complete that step isn't enough. We have to move forward because we have our eyes set on the cross, and our steps parallel with God's love.

Bishop's Message by Bishop Larry Kochendorfer

March 2019 Message for Congregations and Lay and Rostered Leaders

Dear Beloved of God –

On the western slope of the Mount of Olives, just across the Kidron Valley from Jerusalem, sits a small chapel, Dominus Flevit, from the Latin: Dominus – “the Lord”; Flevit – “wept.” The name of the chapel comes from Luke’s Gospel, which contains not one but two accounts (13:31f; 19:41f) of Jesus weeping over Jerusalem. According to tradition, it was here, that Jesus wept over the city.

Inside the chapel, the altar is centered before a high arched window that looks out over the city of Jerusalem. Iron grillwork divides the view into sections, so that on a sunny day the effect is that of a stained-glass window except that what you see through the window is not colored glass, not an artist’s rendering of the holy city, but the city itself, with the Dome of the Rock in the bottom left corner and the Church of the Holy Sepulcher in the center (www.seetheholyland.net/church-of-dominus-flevit/).

Down below, on the front of the altar, is a picture, a mosaic medallion of a white hen with a golden halo around her head. Her red comb resembles a crown, and her wings are spread wide to shelter the pale, yellow chicks that crowd around her feet. There are seven of them, with black dots for eyes and orange dots for beaks. They look happy to be there. The hen looks ready to spit fire if anyone comes near her babies.

And around the edge of the medallion is a Latin text written in red: “Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the city that kills the prophets and stones those who are sent to it! How often have I desired to gather your children together as a hen gathers her brood under her wings, and you were not willing!”

The last phrase of this text is set outside of the circle, in a pool of red underneath the chicks’ feet: you were not willing. Jesus’ words of lament: “Jerusalem, Jerusalem...;” of yearning: “How often have I desired to gather your children...;” of rejection: “And you were not willing.”

Lament, yearning, rejection – for the city of Jerusalem, which Jesus sees across the valley, is a city like a chicken coop filled with pale, yellow chicks and at least one fox – Herod.

Jesus weeps over the city seeing that some of the chicks have taken to following the fox around. Others are huddled out in the open where anything with claws can get to them: helpless, unsafe, unprotected.

Bishop's Message by Bishop Larry Kochendorfer (continued)

And Jesus, standing on the hillside, looking across the valley weeping, is like a white hen with a golden halo around her head who is clucking for all she is worth. Most of the chicks cannot hear her, and the ones that do make no response or ignore her clucking call.

Raised on the farm in the days when chickens often roamed freely around the chicken coop I have seen how a mother hen gathers her brood in protection if it began to rain or if the rooster was let loose or if it was dusk and time to settle down for the night or if the dog came to close. The hen's wings were large and seemed to expand to cover a surprisingly large number of chicks. The hen would simply cluck and somehow the chicks would know to gather under her wings. And not once did I see a chick ignore the hen.

But here, Jesus laments because the brood is unwilling to be gathered. This hen clucks and raises her wings but they do not come, they do not gather. And Jesus weeps.

The depth of his love, his lament, is profound – beyond words. Wings spread, breast exposed, he stands open in the most vulnerable posture in the world. Vulnerable to the dangerous, fearful, deathly work of this fox in the chicken coop, for if the fox wants them the fox will have to kill the hen first.

Which the fox does, as it turns out. He slides up on her one night in the yard while all the babies are asleep. When her cry wakens them, they scatter. She dies the next day where both fox and chicks can see her – wings spread, breast exposed.

In a few short days, in Jerusalem, this lament, this weeping will echo throughout the city and throughout all time. The compassion of God will be exposed for the entire world to see. For in Jerusalem, Jesus, like a mother hen spreading her wings to gather and protect her chicks, will spread his arms on the cross, spread them wide enough to embrace the world, spread them wide enough to embrace us for all time.

May you be sustained in your Lenten journey knowing this expansive, loving embrace.

In Christ Jesus – Shalom,
+Bishop Larry Kochendorfer
